II. Library membership

1. Basic principles

- 1.1. Library membership can be initiated by any natural person or legal person by registration in person and by enrollment for membership in person.
- 1.2. When personal registration or enrollment is enacted, the data of the Library patron (natural identification data and residential address) are registered by the Library.
- 1.3. Online registration includes the service of remote access to the online databases the Library is subscribed to, to the e-book loan system on the CloudLibrary platform, or to both at the same time.

2. Registration

- 2.1. Upon registration the Library issues a registration card that entitles the patron to use the Central Library and all the MESZL branch libraries. The registration card must be validated in all the branch libraries the user wishes to use. The registration card is valid for 12 months from the date of registration.
- 2.2. The administration fee of issuing the registration card of one-year validity is contained in the chart of rates (see Appendix #7).
- 2.3. The users with registration (registered patrons) have the option to utilize the basic services of the Library and certain fee-based services (see detailed in the chapter III. Services).
- 2.4. Online registration valid for the use of databases gives the option to access remotely the online databases the MESZL has subscription for, the e-book loan system on the CloudLibrary platform, or both at the same time. The virtual card is valid for 30 days from the date of activation and is renewable after expiration. The registration process can be started on the - Only max. 2 devices may be used at the same time by one user. The equipment can be used for any amount of time during the opening hours, but in case of high interest, the equipment may be limited to up to 2 hours.

- The loan lasts until closing time, but the equipment has to be returned 1 hour before closing at the latest. (The list of libraries with this service can be found on <https://fszek.hu/page/eszkozkozolcsonzes>).

- If the borrower fails to return the documents and/or devices by the due date, then the Library will send a registered letter to the library patron, or the surety in case of a surety borrower, prompting him/her to settle the debt. The day of notification: 18th calendar day calculated from the due date and in the case of devices the 7th calendar day calculated from the due date. The postal fee is to be borne by the patron.
- As a comfort service, if the borrower has given his/her email address for this purpose, the Library
  - o will send an email notifying about the due date on the last working day before the expiry date, or
  - o will send a warning e-mail on the 7th day after the due date;
  - o will send an email as a last warning of the date of commencement of order for payment and the expected charges on the 45th day calculated from the due date.

The Library shall not be responsible for the failure of notifications on the receiver's side.

- For documents and devices returned after the due date of loan – irrespective of allowances for fees the library patron is entitled to – each borrower must pay a late fee. The cost of the fee is contained in Chapter C of Appendix #7.
- The Library handles the documents and devices not returned as lost items, thus, in order to reimburse the damage caused by unlawful infliction, it will proceed in accordance with Act L of the year 2009 on the prosecution of the order for payment. Following the 57th day calculated after the due date, the Library will request a notarial order for payment, or initiates a court order for enforcement for settling the property financial damage (which is the collection value of the lost document or the device's registered value) and for paying the late fee. The fee of the prosecution, the charge of the notification and the interest costs shall be borne by the library patron (or the surety).

m. Handling of debts

- The library patron may settle his/her debt of fees in person in any of the branch libraries or via remote payment via the Library's website. As for his/her debt of documents, however, it can be settled only in the particular branch library where it originated.

n. Compensation

- The Library hands over to the library patron documents and devices suitable for use. The Library will check the condition of the documents and devices upon their return (in designated libraries, upon the emptying of the lockers on automatic collection points).
- If the borrower has lost or mutilated the document or has incompletely returned the borrowed one with supplement and has not made up for the missing part with a full copy of equal collection value of the document, then the borrower must pay compensation for damage and costs of the legal proceedings. The fines and other rules are contained in Chapter D of Appendix #7.

IV.4. E-book loan via the CloudLibrary platform

- a. The MESZL has e-books for loan via the CloudLibrary platform for every registered user above the age of 10, who has a valid library card with borrowing privileges or an online registration.
- b. This service is for the e-books purchased by MESZL out of the available stock of the platform.
- c. Number of e-books readers can borrow: 2 titles at the same time; the loan period: 2 weeks. After the expiration of the due date, the e-book will cease to be available for the reader.

- e. Reservation for e-books is free of charge.
- f. Number of e-books you can reserve: 1 title.

- b. On his/her renewal through the website the library patron gets a message on the interface and, in case he/she has given his/her email address, a feedback in email, as well.

IV.6. Reservation

- a. The claimant will receive notification to the e-mail address they provided about the handover options and the borrowing conditions issued by the supplying library.

Appendix #10: How to use special and historic collections

1. The following documents and special collections in the Metropolitan Ervin Szabó Library as per the decree of the Ministry of National Cultural Heritage 22/2005. (VII. 18.):

- medieval codices and records of the Hungarian language,
- medieval and early modern manuscripts,
- library documents issued before 1701,
- documents ('Hungarica') published in Hungary or abroad, issued before 1851.

In the online catalog these are marked by the year of publication and the indication „Protected”.

Documents archived with obligation for permanent preservation:

- Collection of manuscripts and curios (with the reference number beginning with 09, q09, f09, f091, q091)
- Budapest Collection, including posters, brochures and items of photography collection, except for copies located in the reference library and work rooms (with the reference number beginning with B)
- Ballagi Collection (with the reference number beginning with Ball)
- Szüry Collection (with the reference number beginning with Sz)
- Collection of pamphlets (with the reference number beginning with P)
- Collection of maps (with the reference number beginning with T)
- Collection of rare books (with the reference number beginning with R)
- Old brochures (with the reference number beginning with H)
- Documents labeled ancient by individual decision (with the indication „Protected”)

2. Protected (preserved) documents can be used only in the Library. These can be borrowed by institutions, exclusively, in order to display (within the frame of an exhibition), copy, restore, or for other well-founded reasons. In these cases, conditions of circulation are regulated by a contract of loans-for-use or other acts.

3. Protected or ancient documents can be used as reference-only documents by all who registered or have a membership in the library.

4. Protected documents can be used in the reading room of the Budapest Collection in the Central Library. In the branches, you can use them at the tables designated.

5. Number of book type museum documents used by one patron at the same time:

- document issued before 1701: up to 2 items
- preserved documents issued before 1851: up to 5 items
- other preserved documents (photos, posters, brochures) by individual judgment.

6. Patrons can receive the protected publication by a signed certificate. Computerized register is done about the receipt.

7. Documents issued before 1701 or stored in the specially protected storeroom of the Central Library are subjected to an enhanced level of protection. You have to fill in a call-slip to use them.

It includes:

- patron's name
- number of the library card
- author of the requested document
- title of the requested document
- year of publication
- call number or stock number of the document
- theme of research
- signature of the person in charge
- time of use
- patron's signature (acknowledgement of receipt)

- librarian's and stock-keeper's signature to certify checking out and checking in.
- 8. Documents subjected to an enhanced level of protection can be handed out upon a prior agreement, with permission from the leader of the Budapest Collection or the person commissioned by him, on the day after the request at the earliest.
- 9. The protected document can be studied at the desk designated for that purpose. The usage is video-recorded by surveillance cameras in the room in compliance with the legislation in force. When returning, the condition of the document is checked in the presence of the patron. Readers have to be warned beforehand, and time of use has to be set counting with that. Other precautions may be taken to protected documents (cotton gloves, pencils instead of pens, longer waiting time).
- 10. Copy of the museum document may be made only by the approval of the librarian on duty. Copying can be refused or subjected to other conditions on account of copyright and protection of the holdings.
- 11. In case of books, maps and periodicals you can use your own device to make a reproduction for public use. The device must not touch the surface of the document in the reading room of Budapest Collection (camera or phone can be used); additional appliances, like camera stands, direct lighting etc cannot be used.
- 12. Copying of museum documents for public use (distribution, broadcasting to the public) requires permission from the Library, for which the Library may ask for a fee (public usage fee). The permission and fee is subject to written agreement on a case-by-case basis.
